La Toc Battery is a remarkable historical landmark located in the vibrant city of Castries, St. Lucia. Originally built in the 18th century, this fortress was strategically positioned to protect the island from potential invasions, showcasing the rich military history of St. Lucia. As you explore.

La Toc Battery is a historical landmark located in Castries, St. Lucia. This place holds so much history and it's a must-visit if you're interested in learning about the past of this beautiful island. As you walk through the grounds, you can't help but imagine what life was like back in the day.

La Toc Battery is an old fort previously garrisoned by British Colonial Forces. Today it is an historical site, with stone walls, secret underground passages, and provides visitors with a glimpse into a past world. There were 60 surrounding forts protecting the valuable coaling harbour at Castries.

His talk about the history of the fort and its rescue in 1980 from oblivion by an American lady who lived on the island added a great deal to our visit. The fort/battery, built on a hill overlooking the Castries harbor, appears to be just 1 long horizontal concrete wall with room for 1 cannon.
